

English 2 Literature and Composition

Course Description:

This is a 10th grade literature and composition course. Students will continue to read from a wide variety of literature traditions including short story, non-fiction, drama, poetry, and novels, and will analyze recurrent patterns and themes in historically or culturally significant works. Students will focus on all phases of the writing process in order to continue to foster confidence in developing a written voice and an understanding a various types of essay. In conjunction with literature analysis and essay writing, grammar and vocabulary will be taught. Emphasis will be on the parts of speech, sentence structure, capitalization, punctuation, and writing style. Oral communication skills will also be emphasized. English 2 is a one- year course, 5 credits each semester will be awarded with a passing grade.

Course Goals/Major Outcomes:

Students will work towards mastering the California State English-Language Arts Content Standards. Student understanding of the standards will be measured by teachers, working collaboratively, to consider a multifaceted view of what constitutes a mature understanding of concepts.

Students will demonstrate understanding by being able to:

- *Explain; with supporting facts and data
- *Interpret; by providing personal dimensions to ideas and events
- *Apply; by effectively using and adopting what is known in diverse contexts
- *Demonstrate perspective; by describing points of view of the big picture

Key Assignments:

In addition to text chapter readings and assignments, students will complete the following:

1. The student will read one novel per semester from the following list. The student will engage in a discussion about the novel with their BASIS teacher. The discussion will summarize, analyze, and describe the main characters and elements of the story. Upon completion of the reading assignment and discussion, each student will write a 3-5 page essay, following the directions below, that identifies and describes the major characters, describes the plot, explains why the student liked or disliked the story, and analyzes important themes in the book.

Novels will be selected from the following list:

- “A Man Called Horse” by D. Johnson
- “By the Water of Babylon” by S. Benet
- “Lord of the Flies” by William Golding
- “1984” by George Orwell
- “Pudd’nhead Wilson” by Mark Twain
- “The Old Man and the Sea” by Ernest Hemingway
- “Emma” by Jane Austen
- “Frankenstein” by Mary Shelley

2. Every student will present a 3-5 minute oral presentation on the novel. The student will prepare an outline summarizing the elements of the novel along with their personal reaction to the story. The student should discuss why the novel was selected, what he/she liked and disliked about the novel and what the student learned from the reading. The outline will be turned in after the presentation is complete.

3. Each Student will read a work of nonfiction. In the study of the work of nonfiction the student will be critical about the accuracy, currency, scope, style, originality, and author's ability to convince the reader. Upon completion of the reading assignment each student will write a 3-5 page essay, following the directions above. The essay should address some or all of the criteria mentioned in this paragraph and explain how it is relevant to the era in which it was written and why the author wrote the piece.

Suggested readings include:

- "Hiroshima" by John Hersey
- "Keeping in Touch" by Ellen Goodman
- "I have a Dream" and "Letter from a Birmingham Jail" by Martin Luther King, Jr.
- "Chicano" by Edward Simmen

Directions:

- All written assignments are to be typed or legibly written in ink.
- An essay will be completed following each assigned reading.
- Each student will do a first draft followed by consultation and grading by the teacher.
- The student will then edit the essay and submit a second draft. The second draft may be the final submission or it may need additional editing. This process is to continue until the student and teacher are satisfied that the essay is worthy of submission for evaluation.
- The final essay, together with all drafts, will be submitted and the final essay will be graded. The teacher or a colleague of the teacher will complete the assessment. The evaluator will consider spelling, grammar, vocabulary, depth of understanding, insight, and other qualities of good writing. School approved guidelines for grading, commonly called rubrics, will be followed by the teachers in the grading of student writing assignments.

Instructional Methods and/or Strategies:

Students will be expected to develop and present work samples described under the key assignments section as well as those required in the textbook/curriculum used. Students will work independently through the text as a primary resource. In order to support this process teachers will provide each student:

*Opportunities to discuss and define complex issues orally or via email

- *Modeling of activities and expected outcomes
- *A variety of print and non-print resources
- *Modeling of study strategies appropriate for different learning styles
- *Discussions around points of view
- *Opportunities to summarize, analyze, compare/contrast, describe, classify, and persuade
- *Opportunities for practice in preparation for presentations

Assessment Methods and/or Tools:

A variety of assessment tools will be used. Written work, as described above, will be corrected in collaboration between the student, teacher, and parent. Final papers will be graded by the teacher. Assessment tools include but are not limited to:

- *Standardized tests, including STAR
- *Criterion based tests
- *Portfolio assessments
- *Student Journals
- *Teacher observation
- *Performance assessments using cameras and recorders
- *Student self-evaluation
- *Surveys and questionnaires
- *Written work, quizzes, and final exams
